

TEMAC SELECT

...choosing the right gasket the easy way...

Dear colleagues,

Temac has the pleasure to introduce our software tool, Temac Select, which allows you always to choose the correct sealing material for any application. With the Temac Select, we now belong to the selected group of top manufacturers, having this type of software available for their customers.

Here we demonstrate how easy it is to use the Temac Select:

- a) System requirements are Windows 2000 and up. Installation of Temac Select goes almost automatically
- b) Start Temac Select with putting temperature, pressure and medium into the designated fields. There are several adjustments and fine tunings possible, to make the input and/or output according to your requirements.

The outcome is the most suitable gasket type(s) or material(s).

- c) Besides selecting the most suitable material, Temac Select can also calculate the optimal tightening moment. Just choose the type and size of the flange according to the applicable norm and select the type of bolts used, and the program will calculate the correct value for the selected gasket or gasket material.
- d) Also for non-standard applications, both for flanges and/or bolts used, the Temac Select program calculates the optimal tightening moment.
- e) The outcomes of the calculation can be printed into a clear document, ready for usage.

The software comes in the English language, but is also for non-speakers with basic knowledge of gaskets and their applications, easy to use.

Free upgrades of the Temac Select will be provided by Temac. However, be aware that using the Temac Select software in any way is only allowed after permission of Temac, a.s. Zvěřinec Czech Republic.

Temac is always trying to improve our service to our customers. If you have any comment remark or suggestion regarding our Temac Select software, we are happy to receive your feedback and use it to improve the next version of Temac Select. Please feel free to contact us.

Kind regards,

Team Temac, a.s. Zvěřinec
